Foreclosure Consultants

The foreclosure process is complicated. On top of that, owners are often unaware of options they may have to protect their homes or to minimize the effect of foreclosure on their credit scores. How do you navigate through all of this? You may to seek the advice of a mortgage foreclosure consultant

What's a Foreclosure Consultant?

Basically, a mortgage foreclosure consultant is any person who offers to help you resolve your foreclosure problem by doing any of the following:

- Stopping or postponing a foreclosure sale
- Getting your mortgage payments lowered or postponed for a short period of time (called a forbearance)
- Obtaining an extension of time for you to reinstate your mortgage, that is, pay off your past due payments to make your mortgage current
- Obtaining a waiver of an acceleration clause in your mortgage. This gives the bank the right to demand immediate payment in full after you default on the mortgage
- Helping you get a loan or an advance of funds
- Helping you avoid serious hits to your credit rating

Legitimate Help is Out There
